

2025 MEDIA KIT

In local markets, weekly newspapers are increasingly taking over the role that used to be filled by fading dailies – keeping readers up-to-date on what’s going on in their communities, and providing in-depth coverage of issues that matter. This is the story behind the success of our publications, as we continue to expand our news coverage, providing the very best print platform for advertisers.

If you are advertising in or considering advertising in a local newspaper in Indian River County, Florida, we think you should be aware of the latest information from the Alliance for Audited Media, a not-for-profit media assurance organization founded by the Association of National Advertisers “to ensure media transparency” and build trust in the circulation claims of daily newspapers.

According to the AAM, the average weekday paid circulation of the printed Indian River Press-Journal in the six-month period ending September 30, 2024 was 3,447 -- while the Sunday edition total paid circulation was 4,373!

That’s right. Fewer than one household in 10 in Indian River County ever sees the print daily newspaper! No wonder print advertising in local daily newspapers all over the country has fallen by double digit amounts, year after year, for the past decade.

And don’t let the local daily tell you they make up the print shortfall with their internet digital edition. The Alliance for Audited Media reported that the average paid circulation of the digital replica edition of the Indian River Press-Journal in the six-month period ending September 30, 2024 was 405 -- while the Sunday edition digital replica edition’s circulation was only 306.

In our three weekly papers – which blanket the most coveted neighborhoods in Indian River and St. Lucie Counties – advertising continues to increase year after year!

Why? Because print advertising in quality newspapers drives results.

Vero Beach 32963, one of the country’s leading weekly newspapers, is your best way to reach the most qualified consumers in Indian River County. Vero Beach 32963 has been the indispensable source of information for beachside residents since its debut in 2008. Our mainland newspaper, Vero News/Sebastian River News, is the largest circulation print newspaper in Indian River County. An additional 3,000 copies are available at newsstands, medical offices, and local businesses.

The combined mail circulation of Vero News/Sebastian River News and Vero Beach 32963 is more than 33,000. CREATING A PDF FILE

Creating a PDF is best done through use of Adobe Acrobat Distiller, which will give you the best reproduction quality. Printing to Adobe PDF or other PDF shortcut methods (PDF Writer, PDF plug-ins) are not recommended as some settings are unavailable for quality press reproduction. If you are using applications other than Acrobat Distiller to create a PDF file, please prepare your file using a press optimized setting.

Please preflight your PDF files for problems. Always view PDF after creation to verify file is correct. Even after you preflight, there are still a few things you should check manually.

- Is the size of the ad correct? Are you adding the bleed size to the ad size? (See Ad formats and sizes)
- Are your color separations correct? No PMS colors mixing with your CMYK or the other way around.
- Are you exporting with registration marks? (For bleeds)
- Are the image resolutions good enough (300 dpi)?

Vero Beach 32963 will not be responsible for errors after printing when a PDF file is used.
